

Xonar Setup Guide

Installation Instructions:

1. Connect an HDMI Cable from the HDMI output on the PC to the HDMI In on the Xonar Sound card. Connect the HDMI Out on the Xonar card to your Television or receiver. This will allow the Xonar card to supply audio to the video feed from your graphics card.

2. (optional) For digital output to a surround sound receiver without HDMI inputs, the HDMI connection from the PC can be directly connected to your Television. Connect the Digital Out from the Xonar card to a coaxial or optical audio port on the receiver (using a coaxial cable or optical cable, not included). For optical output, use the included adapter.
3. Follow the direction in the Xonar Users Manual for sound output configuration options.

Blu-Ray disc playback is available on your new computer (if the Blu-Ray option was ordered) using the included disc containing Arcsoft's Total Media Theater 3.

To install, insert the Ninx Total Media Theater 3 / Drivers disc. Open the Total Media Theater folder.

Open CD03309 and click on Setup.

Follow the installation wizard using the code on the CD sleeve when prompted for a serial number.

This bundled version is not integrated with media center. An upgrade is available from Arcsoft which can be used directly from within Media Center.

To watch a Blu-Ray disc open the TMT3 software from the shortcut on the desktop.

To return to Media Center, press the green button on the remote, or select the green Media Center icon in the Start menu.
